

Mike, as the namesake founder of Carr Law Firm, focuses his practice on criminal defense and personal injury.

An experienced litigator, he has tried more than 55 jury trials in state and federal court as lead counsel, ranging from complex civil cases to triple homicide capital murder defense. In the evenings, he serves as an adjunct professor at Delta State University; teaching Constitutional law, Criminal Law, Civil Liberties, and The Judicial Process.

In addition to this practice and his teaching duties, Michael is heavily involved in several professional organizations. He currently serves on the Executive Finance Committee for the Mississippi Bar Association, former Mississippi Bar Commissioner for the 11th Circuit, and regularly participates in Wills for Heroes, where he assists first responders with drafting wills and estate planning. He has served as a judge and attorney coach for the Mississippi High School Mock Trial Competition for ten years.

A regular presenter at the University of Mississippi, Delta State University, and Continuing Legal Education events, Mike has received statewide recognition for his work with Lawyers in Every Classroom, which educates high school and college students on a wide range of topics involving the legal profession. Mike was named Outstanding Young Lawyer of the Year in 2014 by the Mississippi Bar, and maintains a top "AV" rating by Martindale Hubbell. He has been named a "Top 100 Lawyer" from 2017 to 2021.
